

-Sinclair Broadcasting decided to force their stations to air an anti-Kerry documentary days before the election.

-Michael Moore advertisements have been banned from all Broadcast news time slots.

-ABC bans MoveOn.org's ad on the superbowl, citing an anti-issue advocacy policy, then a couple weeks later... air anti-Kerry 427 ads.

What has been missing from all these violations of FCC regulations?

The mother-fing FCC.

I no longer trust the FCC in serving the public interest or regulating the media industry. FCC Chairman Michael Powell has even encouraged the country's broadcasters and cable operators to meet behind closed doors to decide what Americans will see as the nation transitions from analog to digital broadcasting. Where is the public interest here? How corrupt is your organization? Does it even matter if we keep emailing you about this bull* anymore?
